PRIVACY STATEMENT

The Law Society of New South Wales (Law Society) deals with information privacy in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth). This is a condensed version of our Privacy Policy. To access a complete copy visit our website at www.lawsociety.com.au.

COLLECTION - The Law Society collects personal information for the purposes of fulfilling its functions and responsibilities under, and to facilitate compliance with, the Legal Profession Act 2004 (NSW) and associated regulations, to administer member services and to provide other services for legal practitioners and the public.

CONSEQUENCES OF NOT PROVIDING INFORMATION - Failure to provide information, or providing incomplete or misleading information, may prevent us from processing your application or request.

USE AND DISCLOSURE - The Law Society will use and disclose personal information only for the purposes for which it is collected or in accordance with the Privacy Act, including:

- providing legal practitioners with information relevant to the legal profession;
- maintaining membership records;
- providing information on services and benefits available to Members;
- conducting research relevant to Members, legal practitioners or the provision of legal services;
- providing information to subsidiaries of the Law Society, the College of Law, our professional advisors and contractors, and professional indemnity insurance and practising certificate funders;
- allowing commercial use of mailing list information in a controlled manner by entities proposing mail-outs relevant to legal practitioners;
- providing information to organisations which regulate or represent the legal profession, such as the Office of the Legal Services Commissioner, the Law Council of Australia, Regional Law Societies and overseas regulators; and
- providing information as authorised or required by law.

The Law Society may publish a list of legal practitioners to whom it has issued current Practising Certificates. Whether a legal practitioner is a Member of the Law Society is a matter of public record.

ACCESS - You have the right to request access to any personal information held by the Law Society which relates to you, unless the Law Society is permitted by law to withhold that information. Any requests for access to your personal information should be made in writing to the Law Society General Counsel at The Law Society of New South Wales, 170 Phillip Street, Sydney, NSW, 2000.
