

Tessa Ramanlal
Innovation Facilitator
Herbert Smith Freehills

Tessa Ramanlal is an Innovation Facilitator at Herbert Smith Freehills (where she was previously a Corporate solicitor). She is also a co-founder and Head of User at Anika Legal – a not-for-profit online platform that provides free legal advice to disadvantaged Victorians, and practical legal training to students. Most recently, Tessa has coordinated a new Anika service offering which assists Victorians tenants affected by COVID-19 in negotiating rent reductions. Anika has won ‘Startup of the Year’ at the Australian Financial Review Client Choice Awards for the last two consecutive years. Tessa was also recently awarded the International Legal Tech Association’s ‘Rising Star’ scholarship.
