

Business & Property Law

Friday 18 August 2023

Session 8 – 9.35am – 10.35am

Don't get caught out! Complexities in the PPSA

Any practitioner that deals with security interests regularly knows that the regime prescribed by the Personal Property Securities Act 2009 (Cth) is highly complex. As lawyers, we are responsible for ensuring registrations are valid and effective. The session will cover critical concepts necessary for giving stakeholders certainty about their security interests, examine how the Courts have recently dealt with particularly complex issues, and identify what lessons lawyers should learn from those matters.

Meet the speakers

Bishoy Genday, Senior Associate, Cornwalls

With experience managing multi-party and high-stakes litigation, Bishoy Genday's practice is in dispute resolution and insolvency, and includes partnership and shareholder disputes, priority disputes, director misconduct, misleading and deceptive conduct, market manipulation, fraud, insolvent trading, voidable transactions and other serious breaches of corporate civil penalty provisions. Bishoy has acted for ASX-listed entities, large privately-held companies, litigation funders, property developers, high net-worth individuals and insolvency practitioners. Bishoy has received recognition for his work in dispute resolution and insolvency.
