Nada Vujat

President,
Hunter Valley Law Society

Nada Vujat has practised personal injury law and employment law for over 25 years. Nada joined Emery Partners as a graduate-in-law in August 1996, and liked it so much, she has never left.

Nada has been a principal/partner/director of Emery Partners since 2002. Prior to Emery Partners, Nada was awarded the inaugural BHP Newcastle Scholarship which facilitated six years of work at multiple departments within BHP Newcastle including steelmaking, the bloomcaster, public affairs and the training department.

Nada developed Emery Partner's Medical Law Department shortly after commencing with the firm. She has always harboured a passion for all things medical and health related. In 1992, she graduated with a Bachelor of Arts from the University of Newcastle, majoring in psychology. Nada had a particular interest in psychoneuroimmunology, audiology, visual systems and cognitive behavioural modification. In 1995, she graduated with a Bachelor of Laws from the University of New South Wales. In 2005, she graduated with a Master of Health Law from the University of Sydney.

Nada is committed to collaborative learning, and regularly hosts workshops and presentations for professional organisations, businesses, members of the legal profession and the local community. She has been honoured to have been invited to present at the International Congress on Law and Mental Health on multiple occasions, including in New York, Berlin, Amsterdam and most recently, Barcelona. She has presented for Continuing Professional Development Seminars, writing a workshop paper entitled "Personal Injury Damages in NSW".

Nada is the current President of the Hunter Valley Law Society and the Women's Network [Hunter]. She is also a member of the Australian Lawyers Alliance, the Women Lawyers Association of NSW and is an approved Independent Legal Assistance and Review Service Lawyer [NSW Workers' Compensation].
